ADDRESS

OF HIS EXCELLENCY JOHN JAY, TO THE LEGISLATURE OF NEW-YORK, DELIVERED NOV. 2.

Gentlemen of the Senate and Assembly,

WHEN it is considered how greatly the happiness of every nation depends on the wisdom with which their government is administered, the occasion which has called you together at this early season, cannot but be regarded as unusually important.

The period fixed for the election of a President of the United States is approaching; and the measures preparatory to it in this state are now to be taken. In every possible situation of our national affairs, whether of peace or war, of tranquility or ferment, of prosperity or misfortune, this object will not cease to demand the utmost care and circumspection.

Hitherto the embarrassments arising from competitions, and from the influences incident to them, have not been experienced: they have been excluded by the uniform and universal confidence reposed in that illustrious patriot, who, being distinguished as the father and ornament of his country, by a series of great and disinterested services, was also eminently qualified by an uncommon assemblage of virtues and talents, for that exalted station.

But that extraordinary man, having with admirable wisdom and fortitude conducted the nation through various vicissitudes and unpropitious circumstances, to an unexampled degree of prosperity, is now about to retire. Mankind has not been accustomed to see the highest military and civil powers of a nation so received, used, and resigned, as they have been in this glorious instance. Every reflection and sentiment connected with this interesting subject, will naturally arise in your minds. May the same benevolent, wise, and over-ruling providence which has so constantly and remarkably sustained and protected us, preside over the public deliberations and suffrages.

It gives me pleasure to inform you that, at a treaty held in this city under the authority of the United States, a final agreement has been concluded between this State and the Indian tribes, who call themselves the Seven Nations of Canada. Although their title to the territory they claimed was not unquestionable, yet it was judged more consistent with sound policy to extinguish their claims and consequently their animosities by a satisfactory settlement, than leave the state exposed to the inconveniencies which always result from disputes with Indian tribes. Besides considering our strength and their comparative weakness, every appearance to take advantage of that weakness, was to be avoided.

The claims of the Mohawks to certain other lands, still remain to be adjusted; but there is reason to expect that these may also be amicably settled; and that the period is not far distant, when the Indians on our borders, having convincing proofs of our justice and moderation, will by good offices, and a friendly intercourse be led to rely on our benevolence and protection, and to view our prosperity as connected with their own.

I submit to your consideration, whether the payments to be annually made to the different tribes who are entitled to them by contracts with the State, should not be so ordered, as that they may be punctually paid, in a uniform manner, and at a fixed expence.

Difficulties were experienced in executing the benevolent intentions of the Legislature respecting a Lazaretto in the vicinity of this city. Ground conveniently situated could not be purchased; and the placing it on governor's Island, where it could not have been erected at a proper distance from the garrison, was liable to strong objections. These difficulties have been removed by the liberality of the corporation of the city. They have gratuitously conveyed Bedlow's Island to the state, for this, and such other public uses as the Legislature may from time to time direct. Certain buildings, erected there by the French Republic, have been purchased, and prepared to serve the purpose of a Lazaretto for the present—but as additions and alterations will be necessary: and as precautions should be taken to prevent that Island from being further diminished by encroachments of the water, the appropriation of some money for these objects will be requisite.

The measures prescribed by law to prevent the bringing and spreading of infectious diseases in this state, have been taken, and faithfully executed. It is however to be lamented, that cases of the like fever with that which in the last year proved so fatal to this city, have occurred; and there is at present very little reason to doubt whether that disease may be generated here. The subject of nuisances therefore, having became important to the safety as well as to the comfort of our fellow-citizens, well deserves the notice and interposition of the legislature.

Precarious is the peace and security of that people who are not prepared to defend themselves. Permit me to observe that this state has but one port, and that, important as it is to the whole state, its situation cannot yet be deemed secure. The fortifications that were begun are still unfinished; and it appears to me to merit consideration, whether this port can be otherwise secured than by skilfully fortifying the passage at the Narrows. It cannot be too frequently recollected, that seasons of peace and prosperity are the most favorable for measures and works of this kind.

Considering the funds, which the state possess; the appropriations which have been and will be made for various public uses,—the accounts consequently to such appropriations, and the evident utility of so arranging and conducting our fiscal affairs, as that the funds may be advantageously managed; accounts with individuals regularly settled, and the balances due to and from them punctually paid. I think it my duty to suggest whether more adequate provision for these objects should not be made.

Although our taxes have for years past been inconsiderable, and although there is at present no prospect of our being pressed by any necessity to increase them, yet it is to be presumed from the vicissitudes which attend human affairs, that at some future period more ample contributions may become indispensable; would it not therefore be prudent, at this calm and tranquil season, to adopt and establish such rules and regulations for taxation, as being perfectly consistent with the principles of justice and rational liberty, and gradually acquiring the advantage of experience and usage, may relieve this delicate subject from many of the perplexing questions about principles, mode and manner, which at all times are difficult, and which are particularly embarrassing in time of anxiety and agitation.

The distressed situation in which the French refugees from St. Domingo arrived here, induced the Legislature to provide for them in a very beneficent manner. The sums alloted for their support have been expended, and the accounts audited and settled—many of those unfortunate persons have left the state; but it is represented to me, that a number of old persons and children are still here, and in a situation so destitute and wretched, that I cannot forbear mentioning it to you. They cannot with propriety be considered as the poor of any particular district—their fate is peculiar as well as distressing, and they appear to me as having become by the dispensations of providence the poor of the state.

It often happens that persons not urged by circumstances equally pressing, come into the state, from distant parts, and in many instances become burthensome to it. This subject seems to call for some regulations, especially as the laws heretofore passed relative to it has ceased to operate.

I ought not to omit informing you that the honorable Mr. King having been appointed minister plenipotentiary to the Court of Great Britain and accepted that place, his seat in the Senate of the United States has become vacant.

In the course of your deliberations on the affairs of the state, and the means of preserving and encreasing the public welfare, many interesting subjects will rise into view—such as these among others. The manner in which the Salt Springs may be rendered most useful, and the woods in the neighbourhood of them best preserved. The facilities and encouragement that may be proper towards obtaining an accurate map of the whole state—The necessity of rendering the laws respecting roads and bridges more effectual—and of revising and amending those which relate to the militia, and which direct the inspection of our staple commodities. As these and various other objects derive importance from their relations to the general welfare, they will I am persuaded receive a proportionate degree of your attention; and I assure you that it is no less my desire than it is my duty to co-operate with you in guarding and promoting the prosperity and happiness of our fellow-citizens.

JOHN JAY.

HALIFAX, OCTOBER 22.

Wednesday arrived here Captain Warren, in a schooner from St. John's Newfoundland, in 21 days passage.—Capt. Warren informs, that on his way here he touched at the Bay of Bulls that he found that whole settlement burnt and destroyed, and some of the inhabitants who had fled to the woods, had returned, and were endeavouring to put up small huts to shelter them from the winter. Among the vessels destroyed at the Bay of Bulls, was a valuable brig from London, which had touched there, and had not discharged any part of her cargo. She belonged to the house of Hill and Co.—No accounts had been received at St. John's of the fleet having been at any other principal harbour of the Island, or of their having done so much damage as from their force might have been expected.—They have destroyed a number of bankers, and we do not find that they have preserved any of the vessels which have fallen into their hands. At St. John's they have been under no apprehension of an attack from them, through every measure had been taken by Sir James Wallace to give them a warm reception, should they have the folly to attempt it. Upwards of 4000 men have been embodied there for the defence of the place. Captain Warren also informs, that intelligence had been received at St. John's that the Quebec fleet had got safely through the Streights of Belleisle. A flag of truce with a number of persons who had been taken by the French had arrived at St. John's. Capt. Warren further informs, that 14 days ago he spoke a shallop from Feriland, and learnt that another vessel had arrived at an adjacent harbour, with a number of masters of vessels and others who had been prisoners on board the admiral's ship. By this vessel they were informed, that seven sail of the fleet had gone into St. Lawrence harbour, in the bay of Placentia and that they were expecting the return of two of their ships, which had been detached to the northward, and immediately after their rejoining the fleet, it was supposed they would quit the coast. They had been into St. Pierre's and had burnt the church and government-house, which had been left standing.

FROM THE FEDERAL GAZETTE.

Mess. Yundt & Brown.

Please to insert the following as the highest proof that can be obtained, of Mr. Adams having served his country to the satisfacti on of those who had the best opportunity of judge to his conduct.

IN CONGRESS.

OCTOBER 5, 1787.

On a report of the secretary for foreign affairs, to whom were referred two letters from the Hon. John Adams, of the 24th and 27th January last.

Resolved, That Congress entertain a high sense of the services which Mr. Adams has rendered to the United States, in the execution of the various important trusts which they have from time to time committed to him, and that the thanks of Congress be presented to him, for the PATRIOTISM, perseverance, integrity, and diligence, with which he has ably and faithfully served his country.

C. THOMPSON, SECRETARY.

FROM THE ARGUS.

A disagreeable rencountre took place yesterday morning in Cortlandt-street, between the honorable John Rutherford, Esq. a Senator of the United States; and Sir John Temple, Vice Consul of his Britannic Majesty. The former attacked Sir John with an huge bludgeon on suspicion of his being the author of a publication in which he supposes himself called "young Gripe-all," and charged with being a tory during the war. Sir John defended himself with a small horse whip. Notwithstanding disparity in age and weapons (Sir John being about 70, and Mr. Rutherford was about 30) truth compels us to say, that Victory declared for the Vice-Consul Mr. Rutherford was knocked down, and most terribly beaten—We cannot but lament the fate of this young gentleman as peculiarly unfortunate: He took the trouble to travel from Suffex County, in New-Jersey, on purpose to chastise Sir John's insolence. We hope he will have better luck next time.

A SPECTATOR.

Quere. Ought not Sir John to ask pardon of the Legislature of the United States, for the dishonorable handling one of its members?

AMELIORATION OF HUMAN PUNISHMENTS.

It is understood from France, that the French government are meditating the abolition of the punishment of death. In the beginning of their Revolution they suppressed the use of the torture, the wheel and the rack. The violent agitations of party within, the fomentations of those parties by foreign powers, and a disposition to excessive violence always produced by fearful crises in nations and individuals, undoubtedly occasioned the most monstrous excesses under the former imperfect constitutions. But since the moment of extreme danger was passed and since the establishment of the present government, the Guillotine appears to be very differently used. The amiable views of Howard, and the successful plan of Pennsylvania, have been unceasingly discussed in France, and an edifying solitude, temperance, and industry are likely to be adopted in lieu of sanguinary punishments. In such a condition, that weakness which may have yielded to temptation may be fortified by the exercising of the spirit of our divine author in the bosom of the unhappy criminal; and the daring offender against the laws of God, may at least be restrained from his wonted inroads on the property, peace and lives of his fellow-creatures. The concurrence of the United States and of France in the abolition of excessive punishments and of the African trade, will decide upon the ultimate success of those two measures.

The Pope has already ſent to the French Republic a contribution of two millions of Roman crowns, which we ſuppoſe is more than the amount of all the profits ariſing from the ſale of indulgencies within the Catholic See ſince the period of the Revolution. Such is the viciſſitude of human affairs; he who was formerly in the habit of ſelling pardon to others, is now compelled to purchaſe his own peace.

FROM AN ALBANY PAPER—OCT. 10.

A gentleman in a late tour through the counties of Oſſego and Tioga, takes notice of the remains of an ancient regular fortification, on the eaſt bank of the Suſquehannah, and nearly oppoſite the mouth of the Unadilla river. Its figure is triangular and contains about an acre of land—huge pines (for it is ſituated on a pine plain) of three feet diameter, which have grown on its walls and in its trenches crumble into duſt with age. Allowing for the decay of the fort and the growth and decay of the trees, he conſiders the Fort of 1000 years antiquity.

The writer of this article has met with many fortifications in the counties Onondago, Ontario, and Tiaga in a ſimilar ſtate. There is one which he ſaw laſt year on the north bank of the Chenango in Tiaga county near the houſe of Benjamin Hovey, Eſq. The trench, the walls and the paſſages were diſtinctly marked. It contains againſt the meaſure. The court of upwards of an acre. Its form is between an irregular circle and a quadrangle. The trees of an immenſe ſize had been cut down but by counting the circles of an annual vegetation, ſome of them were about two hundred years of age. There is another on the north ſide of the ſtate road from Onondago caſtle to Kayuga ferry, near to Burk's tavern, on a commanding ſpot of nearly the ſame form, but of larger dimenſions. The trees on its ſcite, walls, and trenches, were very large.

He viſited one ſtill larger within two or three miles of Conandarqua on the eaſt ſide of the lake. He has been informed there are conſiderable numbers of them in a direct courſe from lake Ontario to the river Ohio. Would it be worth while to examine thoſe before the plough render their foundation inviſible? Are they forts raiſed by the Spaniſh or French in their travels on the diſcovery of the new world in queſt of gold and ſilver? Are they the remains of ſome nation or tribes, whom Europeans found in the foreſts of North America and whom misfortune has long ago deſtroyed or changed into barbarians? Are they the works of the predeceſſors of the preſent ſix nations from whoſe attainment their ſons have fallen?

FROM A PHILADELPHIA PAPER.

Whatever has a tendency to alleviate the ſufferings to which our frame is ſubject, it is the duty of printers to publiſh.—A citizen of Philadelphia has been cured of that diſagreeable complaint, the Piles, by drinking molaſſes and water, and abſtaining from the uſe of wine and ſpirits. He had the complaint to a moſt alarming degree, and entertains no doubt of its being totally eradicated by this ſimple means.

The following character of the preſent King of Pruſſia was drawn by the celebrated Mirabeau, when at Berlin in 1786.

"The character, of his Majeſty is compoſed of three leading traits: the art of deceiving which he calls addreſs—a prodigious degree of ſelf-love, ſubject to reſentment on the ſlighteſt neglect—the love of riches, which with him is not ſo much avarice, as the mere deſire of poſſeſſing. The firſt of theſe vices inſpires him with diſtruſt, for whoſoever ſyſtematically deceives others fears himſelf to be deceived; the ſecond makes him prefer men of middling or mean talents; the laſt contributes to make him lead an obſcure and ſolitary life, which naturally augments the two firſt. Little enamoured of glory, he thinks it chiefly conſiſts in ſhowing that he is not governed by any opinion but his own. He is rarely employed in the conſideration of foreign politics, and acts the part of a ſoldier from neceſſity, not from taſte."
